3) Apostille Certificate

Apostille Convention: a multilateral convention among contracting states under which, to simplify the mutual authentication of public documents, complex authentication procedures such as consular legalization by foreign missions are abolished and instead the country issuing the public document confirms it (Legalization).

* Name: Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents

- Issuing authority: the authority designated by each government (in Korea, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs)
- Documents to submit: an "Apostille certificate" for academic documents (graduation certificate, degree certificate, transcript)

[Reference] <https://www.hcch.net/> → Apostille Section

<https://www.hcch.net/en/instruments/conventions/specialised-sections/apostille>

※ Those who obtained (or are expected to obtain) a bachelor's degree or higher abroad (China treated separately) may later be asked to submit the following documents (submit when requested after application):

- Degree obtained in the USA: "Certificate of Accredited University" from the Korean-American Educational Commission (02-3275-4000)
- Degree obtained in Japan: "Seal certification" from the Consular Section of the Japanese Embassy, certification desk (02-739-7400)
- Degree obtained in other countries: one of the following "Certificate of accredited university" from the country's embassy, "Certificate of overseas educational institution" from the Korean consulate in that country, or "Apostille certificate" from a government authority of that country

4) Exceptional acceptance of graduation certificates

- Conditions: substitute documents such as a certificate of expected graduation or a provisional graduation certificate are accepted if the following requirements are met

※ A graduation certificate must be additionally submitted when applying for extension of the period of stay

- Eligible countries: countries that issue official graduation certificates with a delay of several months or more
Vietnam, Myanmar, Nepal, India, Malaysia, Sri Lanka, Israel, and other countries where the delayed issuance of high school or university (graduate) graduation certificates can be confirmed by government documents
- Eligible persons: those within 1 year of graduation as of the issuance date of the Certificate of Admission
- Accepted documents: documents showing personal details, school name (program) or exam name, period of study or (expected) graduation date, exam scores (if necessary), etc., that can confirm graduation requirements (the document name may vary, e.g., certificate of expected graduation, provisional graduation certificate)

※ An Apostille from the issuing country or consular confirmation by the Korean diplomatic mission in that country is required
